THE BACKLOG 1933

Published by the
SENIOR CLASS

of
DAVID LIPSCOMB COLLEGE
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Foreword

BESIDES THE BIBLE there is perhaps no other book that grows dearer with the years than the little book of memories that the student takes with him when he leaves for the last time the scenes of his college days. The staff presents this book to the student body of 1933 so that in future years they may sit together in the genial glow of THE BACKLOG and live again in memories the days at D. L. C.

Dedication

The Senior Class of 1933 dedicates this volume of THE BACKLOG to
H. LEO BOLES who for twenty-seven years as teacher and as president of David Lipscomb College has inspired thousands of boys and girls to walk the path of a nobler life.

CLASS POEM

Through the vale of Elah
Rang the heathen's call,
"Send a man to meet me,
O ye men of Saul;
All Jehovah's armies
I this day defy.
Are there none among you
Unafraid to die?

All Jehovah's army
Stood in sore dismay,
Soldiers, king, and cap'tans,
Shrinking from the fray.
Said a shepherd stripling,
"Shall they say we ran?
Rest your anxious spirits;
I will fight the man!"

Throwing off the armor
Saul had clothed him in,
In the name of Heaven
Forth he went to win.
Clad in Heaven's armor
Naught could harm his way;
Thousands fled before him,
Isr'el won the day.

So may we, Jehovah,
When earth's cares molest,
And when fears and doubtings
Storm within our breast,
When the tempter taunts us,
Trustingly may we,
Putting on thy armor,
March to victory.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

By JACK LYNCH

I RECALL AT THIS TIME the almost-forgotten-past of my carefree college days. The class of which I was a member was agreed on by every one as being the best to grace these venerable grounds and stately buildings—up to that time, of course. This class entered David Lipscomb College in the fall of 1931, having been gathered from the proverbial “four corners.” We were largely a mass of uncultured and uneducated brutes highly desirous of plucking the rich fruits from the tree of learning—provided there was not required too much effort in the plucking therefrom. We felt highly honored and elated on being called Juniors while we were, in reality, only common “Frosh.”

Be that as it may, we have since matured—at least in body—and some of us are quite old. We have earned our bread by sundry ways and in divers manners and all in all have had quite a little experience and seen pretty much of the earth's surface.

We are proud to have among our number some of the foremost men of letters, philosophers, doctors, lawyers, merchants and what not.

Probably the most famous of the group is I—the great Nama Tow—for who has not heard of that illustrious gentleman, the greatest crystal gazer of all times, the greatest authority on abnormal psychology (being a bit abnormal himself, perhaps), the various psychical functions, hypnotism, Hexactinellida, Coelenterata, Acanthocephala, Elasmobranchii—“Desist,” I may hear some one exclaim. Well, perhaps I am bounding over my steps, that is, well, that's all right. However, the greatest claim to distinction which I may make will be this masterpiece, this literary gem, this dissertation which I am now compiling.

I have traveled much and become weary, so I have returned to D. L. C. to recuperate, and while here I am putting on an exhibition of my super-human power for the benefit of the school. There are some of the old students present, and from them I hear much, but I must rely upon my trusty crystal to reveal the hidden things and discover the lost members.

The crowd has gathered, I have been duly introduced—of course I need no introduction—and I begin. I have decided the plan of this program will be that any one desiring information will concentrate on the question and the crystal, always ready, will pick up the question and tell me the answer.

Immediately I see in the magic depths of the ball a question. It is from Miss Maude Greene, 999th Vice-President of the Cheatem Trust Company. She is highly desirous of learning the location of one Floyd Hamilton. Ah, the answer! I see a venerable old man with a flowing white beard. He is going from house to house reciting poetry under the name Terrania Hamilore. He has written some very beautiful poetry, most notable of which are his love sonnets, influenced by a disappointed affair in his early manhood.

But, hold! What is this? Now, I see; Bryant Messer is enquiring as to Miss Wharton, who he admits has always been his secret sorrow. Bryant is married to some one else, and they are living a happy and contented life in Texas. We may inform you, Mr. Messer, that Miss Wharton is conducting an Old Ladies' Home in South Carolina. It is intimated that she is still going with Edwin Jones, the grease can king, but it is understood that they will never marry.

Ah, this is a pleasure! I see in the audience the great movie actress, Senorita Elwestola, none other than our dear little Ella Moore. Her latest play is one by Monsieur Beaubelle, the nom de plume of Mary Jo Jackson. I can hear the hero shouting to the villain the thrilling climax of this, the greatest modern drama, "Hie thee hence, dog, lest I fall about thine ears and beat thee sorely."

I see in the audience another world figure. Jack Draper has taken over the column of Dorothy Dix and is now an authority on love and related subjects. It is said that his chief advisor is Elizabeth Enoch, part of the stream that turns the social mill of New York.

We have an intermission, during which time the most famous quartet on the air renders some very fine selections. This quartet is composed of Kirk Blankenship, David Bobo, James Halbrook, and William Floyd.

During this intermission I am informed that the famous lawyers, Mullican and Netterville, are in town. They have a case before Judge Ruth Overton. They are defending Miss Mildred Provence, who is being sued by Mrs. Guy McCann, Chrystine Phillips, for the alienation of Mr. McCann's affections. Mrs. Netterville, Evelyn Wright, stays by her husband very closely in these cases.

The program continues. A question from Miss Bridgewater, "Does Leland still love me?" Mr. Dugger, by the way, is a leading authority on International postal relationships. It is intimated that Tweedy Foster, his secretary, is the power behind the throne. Several of the old students are anxious about that wild, dashing, debonaire, red-readed Buford Holt. I, too, have been busy along that line and find that he is none other than the world-famous Don Poco Loco, the great bacteriologist. He has produced some very fine specimens of elongated Pxyslate and decapitated horse flies. He has as his chief assistant Hal Holt. The dietitian—for the bugs—is Mary Elizabeth Corley, and her assistant is Harriet Farrar. Professor Holt's secretary is Gladys Holland.

What Ho! Elizabeth Pylant and Virginia Robertson both asking for Adolphus Rollings. I see that Adolphus is a mining engineer. He has perfected a system of turning coal into electricity at the mine entrance and is making great profit with the coal mines of East Tennessee. He has a very able group of the leading machinists, electricians, draughtsmen, etc., of the day working with him. Mrs. Rollings, Charlotte McClannahan, has inspired him to his great success.

Smith & Stough! How many books do you see those names on? James and Durden are the two greatest philosophers of all times. Their latest book, "Philosophying Dan," is the best seller for this year. Mr. Smith has never married, but Mr. Stough is happily married to Elizabeth Wells.

Well, well, well, this is a surprise; Moze and Boze—Herman Waddell and Jere Williams—are in the movies. Their rapid rise from vaudeville to the height of the cinema world is the talk of two continents.

I touch the magic ball—a picture! I see a face through bars—why, I am astounded for that face belongs to none other than Marjorie James. Carambos—but, no, the picture unfolds. There is a cage full of lions, tigers, and various and sundry beasts. Margie is in the midst of the savage horde directing maneuvers just as she used to at D. L. C. She is known as "Senorita Gonzola—the little girl from Sunny Spain." She has the theatrical world at her feet. Her most thrilling act is where two leopards swallow each other. They each take the other's tail in his mouth and when the first one bites, it makes the other one angry, so he bites. This continues until both are consumed.

And who is this, but our dear old "Aunt Carmen." She ambles in late and takes a back seat. She's the same as she used to be, and as unconcerned as ever. She appears to be very prosperous and I find, upon inquiry, that she is a trapeze artist. She is with the Squinky Dunk Circus, the greatest of this day. She makes quite a bit of money and gives most of it to the upkeep of her "Alma Mater." You wouldn't know Carmen now. She doesn't look a day over twenty-five and she is much better looking than she used to be in school. She is married to some "Big Shot" and seems very happy.

Oh! Gracious sakes alive—just listen to those screams and groans, the very writhings of agony. It is so horrible my crystal is about to break under the strain. A heart-piercing scream, a sigh, all is quiet. And now I see the picture. I see a door. On it is H. McCaffrey, D.D. Easy, let us look within. A man is lying in the chair, bleeding and unconscious. Over him is Mac, smiling triumphantly. Tsk! Tsk! Imagine all that fuss over one little tooth. Mac is the crack dentist of Rieves, Tennessee, where he is practicing on some of the locals trying to perfect a method of sharpening teeth to the best advantage for the consumption of meat.

The crystal is getting ambitious. It picks up something from the South Seas. I hear tom-toms beating, the weird, wild chant of natives, the rhythm of dancing feet. The natives are gathered around a large fire. In their midst is some one shouting. He seems to be the leader in this unique ritual. Consternation! When we look closer, we see that it is a white man. I knew it—Henry Pierce. Now, who would imagine, even in his wildest moments, that Henry would ever do a thing like this? Well, I'll tell you how it happened. Henry was on his way to a group of cannibal islands as a missionary. He had a controversy with one of the seamen, and one night what did poor little Henry do but wake up in mid-ocean in a small boat without water or provisions.

After a few days he lost consciousness and when he came to himself he was on a small island, surrounded by natives. The exposure caused a case of Amnesia and Henry thinks he is a native just like the rest of them. We can't allow this to go on, so we immediately dispatch an expedition to his rescue.

The field of radio has advanced quite a bit, but there is one branch which has not improved at all. This is none other than the announcing. The announcers are still taking up most of the time, and there never has been a fifteen minute program yet without frequent interruptions from this misguided branch of humanity—except once. This announcer stated that a program of music would last for thirty minutes. The music was so dull that he went to sleep. Well, he got fired, of course, but there were so many demands from all over the nation that he was taken back. This gentleman was none other than Charles Coleman—the laziest boy in Lipscomb. Charley saw what the people wanted, so he started him a station of his own—Station W-G-A-B. The announcements on this station come only every hour. It is said that Charles became an announcer because Marie threw him down. He became so miserable that he determined to make every one else wretched, also. However, he learned his lesson and is now the most popular man in radio. The theme song of the station is "Are you there, Charley?"

Having just mentioned Marie, we might state that she has become a brain specialist. She went to the Quackus Medical College and then threw poor Charley down for a career. Charley was terribly hurt and afterwards, when she wanted to go back, he wouldn't take her. She stated that she would exit into the garden and consume worms. Henceforth, she hied herself thither into retirement and studied the human brain—a very small matter within itself, in most cases. Her first case was one in which a man was paralyzed in one leg. She fixed him up, all right, but he now walks on his hands.

Water! ! I'm getting seasick. I see nothing but a vast expanse of water with small stakes at regular intervals. I also see, blended in with this picture, a large office with Margaret Anderson seated at the desk. There has been a big boom in Florida and she is selling lots—to people who have never seen them. When they see them, they have to pull the alligators and fishes off their lot, and then they can refine the water and sell the salt—maybe. She has made quite a lot of money at this, and we hope it lasts.

Next we see that Drucile Yarbrough is a world-famed painter and sculptor. She is extremely modernistic in her work and, like all the others, has to label all her works to tell what they are after she finishes them. She has done some very famous people—she did one old man for $50,000. She got the labels switched on two of her works and had her "Boy and Dog" labeled "Ancient Indian Mounds." However, this happens so often these days that no attention is paid to it, but every one seems to take it for granted.

Aha! A man's head—and it is funny looking. It is in the office of one, Dr. Scragus—Phrenologist. This man is none other than Elliott Hardaway—but don't misunderstand me, please. He is the doctor, not the man who is having his head examined. Dr. Scragus is located in Los Angeles and has started a school for research along this line. This picture fades rapidly, being of little importance anyway, and another takes its place.

We travel rapidly northward to the Hudson River. There on a lonely mountain crag we see a cave. There is a sign over the entrance which reads, "Ye Inmatye of thys Dyve is Tuyffe—Ye Travylers wyll bye treyated Ruyffe." The old man is grizzled and ragged, just like all hermits. Yes, you guessed it—John Rucker. He lost all his money in the panic of '55 and retired into seclusion and whiskers. He is very happy and lives a simple life. He is determined to live to a ripe old age of eighty (80) years.

The noise of battle! We see a flight of arrows, and just ahead a party of white men. The arrows are gaining. Whoops! My dear—one gentleman is lacerated. But does that hinder his progress? I should say not. He is highly accelerated. He and the arrows are neck and neck, he's gaining, he's ahead by a length, he's coming down the home stretch. What a horse—man, I mean. This is none other than Carl York Smith. He is a very famous explorer. He has discovered several islands, etc., and is quite the stuff in his field. Boy, and can he run from natives.

I hear a voice—"Take two cups of flour, a pinch of soda, blah, blah, blah, mix well, etc." Miss White is broadcasting recipes over a national hookup. She is considered one of the best and all young housewives listen to her "personally tested and tried" recipes. Miss White admits, privately, that she has never cooked any of these dishes and would be afraid to eat any that any one would cook under her directions. She admits that she has never cooked a meal in her life and couldn't even boil water without scorching it, as the old saying goes. However, newlyweds and such like continue to trust her and apparently do not know the difference.

"And that, children, is how the little pony got its first shoes." So ends the first story of "Duckey and Wuckey," the primary reader published by Ruth Cunningham. She has written several books on the education of children and is very popular.

A question, "Where is William McIlrath?" Well, we wonder why Atha Kirk wants to know that. Oh, I see. William ran off with his fiancée and Atha wants to know where to find her. Well, perhaps it isn't fair, but we will tell. They have settled in South Africa and are talking of erecting a refrigeration plant there.

And last, but far from least, we hear from "King George" Graham. Arthur is the famous author of "Scottie," the most highly prized series of joke books that has ever been published. But George, like all good authors, never laughs at his own jokes.

Senior Testament

We, William Mc Shath et al., of the Senior Class of David Lipscomb College, Grannywhite Pike, Nashville, Davidson County Tennessee, being of sane mind (though many have remarked that the state has been neglecting its duty lately), and feeling that we are about to depart to that supper (?) and better world, do hereby dispose of all our worldly (and accidentally useless) goods in the manner following, to wit:

To President Baster, Dean Dyame, and the Faculty, we do hereby will and bequeath a "Student Body" bigger and better than ever in the history of this school. (Copyright 1810, by all class-writers and their successors)

To the Junior Class: Ability to pay for Senior entrance and resulting hospital bills.

To the High School: Friendly advice: "Take all snap courses; also the consequences."

To the members of the Senior Class we do hereby will and bequeath the remainder of our possessions in mode sequento pro bono publico (all of which, gentle reader, means absolutely nothing):—

Kirk Leonard Blankenship—something to uncurl that lock of hair.

David Babo—all the "mintzings" he can hold.

Thomas Burton—something really funny to say.

John Brannville Carter—a hitch-hiker's thumb-point.

Margaret Drucille Warborough—Carter always hears us hail rides.

Charles H. Coleman—Marie Crabtree

Marie Crabtree—Charles H. Coleman

William Floyd—a Daniel to interpret his hand-writing.

Cody Lister Bear—something to hide those ears.

Arthur Graham—Bah Jove! old dears, a bit of Mary Womland, wot?

James Porter Walbrook—a chance to talk about

Mississippi. (You furnish someone to listen)

Floyd J. Hamilton—a job in a circus as "The Only Living Question Mark."

L. Elliott Hardaway—superintendency of the Congressional Library

Malcolm Harrison—a new set of freckles

Buford Walt—the dough to cover the charges on broken laboratory apparatus.

Walt Walt—position on the All-American Football Team.

Phil Kerr—something to rub the grin off his face.

Thomas Acha Kirk—some chemicals to play with (high explosives).

Thelma Lillie—a new jar of "Delicate Blush"

Jack Lynch—"the same" as Burton

Edward Lloyd—governorship of Alabama.

Lucie Harold Mc Caffrey—something to use that six-inch tongue on

Guy Thompson Mc Cann—a Sunday School joke

President Meiser—a governorship of Texas. (It's going to the university, so—).

Carmen Landrum - Fletcher
 W. J. Mullican - presidency of another Senior Class just like this! (Not wishing you any bad luck or anything like that, but -)
 Ruth Nuttville - a "Fallen Girl" sweetheart.
 Billie Harris - something to fill up space. (I'll give you three guesses.)
 Henry Howard Pierce - job as Hamilton's "barber."
 John Newton Park - a cut blonde.
 Edaphus Rollings - a shock of Absalom's hair.
 John B. Rucker - a girl for every occasion.
 Carl York Smith - somewhere to concentrate. (He must have this regardless of whether the rest of you get anything or not.)
 James D. Smith - something to sell to housewives who have time to listen to his sales talk.
 William Quaden Strong - something to substitute for that middle name.
 Herman W. Waddell - something to keep the girls from crushing each other in the mad rush for a date with him.
 Harriet Annette Farver - all that her name suggests Maude (and that was her name) Green - a bench in "Lovers' Retreat."
 Marjorie Loretta James - another song to annoy Brother Walker with.
 Virginia Hughes - something to giggle about Christine Huber - a villa on the Riviera.
 Sarah Elizabeth Pylant - a milk poppie.
 Virginia Robertson and Corie Hill - joint ownership of "Vivac's Odds and Ends."
 Mary Jo Jackson - the greatest happiness possible
 Farina Elizabeth Wells - some "cute boy" to tell Elizabeth Enock about.
 Eunice White and Evelyn Wright - a bottle of Coo-
 Cola without straw. (Watch 'em fight!)
 Ruth Cunningham - John Rucker
 Christine Phillips - a mouthful of chewing gum
 Mildred Provencal - a great big bit of somebody's candy
 (And don't grab.)
 Ruth Overton - some more tramps to be "so scared of I just ran!"
 Harry B. Clements - two hours to explain why a pencil with a point will write. (Everybody will have left before he finishes the words, "Well, ya see the ab-pencil -")
 Tweedy Foster - two well-known lines from "Julius Caesar."
 Elizabeth Enock - see under Taborough.
 Margaret Lucille Anderson - a lip-stick
 Wilbur Wharton - a love nest in Colorado.
 Ella Mae Harrison - someone to use those eyes on Ella Moore West - a bottle of peroxide, in case she runs out.
 Mary Elizabeth Colby - a job as a night club hostess.
 Wilbur Wharton - a class of Brewers and Fodes in another training school.
 Gladys Holland - a Sunday School class.
 Katherine Hovius - a "date" (stuffed).
 Charlotte McElanahan - a place on the staff of some large newspaper

Elven Jones - a basket-ball.
 Jack Shaper - some stilts (Poor little boy, so small for his age, too!)
 Harv Clarke Bridgewater - a "male" man.
 Island Duggar - position as Postmaster-General in President's Dublin's Cabinet.
 Jere Williams - gas, oil and a spare tire for that "Res"

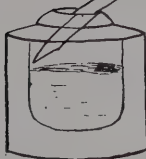

In witness whereof: We have hereunto subscribed our names in the Backlog Office, Clam Hall, David Lipscomb College.

DEBATING CLUB

AFTER SEVERAL YEARS SUSPENSION, interest in interscholastic debating has been revived at David Lipscomb. Early in the year a debating club was organized with Brother H. Leo Boles as coach.

The question debated with other colleges was "Resolved—That All War Debts Should Be Cancelled."

In the debate held here on February 24, Harry Clements and Tweedy Foster affirming the proposition, defeated the representatives of Cumberland University. On the 26th, Edward Nowlin and Granville Tyler, on the negative side, won the decision over the visitors from Bethel College. The negative team from Austin Peay Normal defeated David Lipscomb, represented by Foster and Clements, on March 3. This debate was also held at David Lipscomb. Frank Pack and Clarence Francis, denying the proposition, lost the decision to the team from Union University in the debate here on March 13.

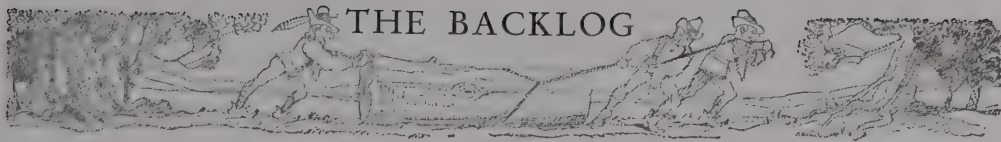

At Clarksville, April 10, our team, composed of Frank Pack and Granville Tyler, defeated the affirmative team of Austin Peay Normal. On April 11, at David Lipscomb, Pack and Tyler, again on the negative, won over the representatives from Murfreesboro State Teachers' College. Mullican and Foster, on the affirmative, lost the decision on the same date to the negative team of Murfreesboro.

ATHLETICS—A SUMMARY

AMONG THE FIRST to greet us on our arrival was Bro. Robert Alexander, our new Director of Athletics. He at once manifested a willingness to co-operate and lead in all efforts to make this phase of student activity what it should be in every particular. It has been his contention that a sound and efficient mind in a sound and skillful body is the ideal to be achieved in a Christian College. His purpose has been to make athletics subservient to the best interests of all concerned.

Basketball

UNDER THE LEADERSHIP of Coach Alexander, D. L. C. has taken a new step in the field of this popular winter sport. We were admitted into the Mississippi Valley Conference. This conference is composed of the leading junior colleges of this section as well as a number of standard four-year colleges. The move has proved to be a very popular one with the student-body because of the fine sportsmanship manifested by the visiting teams and the keen competition they have provided.

ABOUT THIRTY MEN answered the call for try-outs and from this number ten efficient applicants were selected. Only four regular men returned and this, along with the lack of other experienced men made the task of rounding out a well-balanced team a very difficult one. Those who played the whole season and received letters are: Draper (Captain), Watkins, Waddell, B. Holt, H. Holt, Kirk, Chappell, Huddleston, Blankenship and Ray. About the middle of the season, the High School and College teams were combined. This made Blankenship, the lanky center, available for college games. With Waddell and Watkins as forwards, Draper and B. Holt as guards and Blankenship at center, a formidable team was assembled.

Tennis

TENNIS IS THE MOST POPULAR SPORT in David Lipscomb College. Four well-kept courts are in use during most of the playing season. A very enthusiastic club has been organized under the leadership of Eugene Boyce. In the fall tournament, Shirley Watkins and Evelyn Harrison won the boys' and girls' single matches respectively. In the spring tournament, the boys' singles crown went to Atha Kirk with Evelyn Harrison repeating in the girls' match. A College team composed of Boyce, Kirk, Holt and Hourihan, has won victories over the Murfreesboro Teachers and Wallace. As this goes to press, games have been scheduled with Bethel and Lambuth Colleges.

Baseball

EACH YEAR A BASEBALL TEAM is chosen to represent David Lipscomb College. This year, with Hourihan and Parker as catchers, Waddell and Watkins as pitchers, McCann at first, Netterville at second, Holt at third, M. Chappell at shortstop and C. Chappell, Stutts, Jones, and Jackson in the outfield, a fast working team was developed. Games have been scheduled with some of the strongest teams of this section as well as with the various college teams of the conference.

Life Insurance Pays to Living Policyholders More Money Than to Their Estates or Beneficiaries . . .

Statistics Show

that out of every 100 men at age 65

28 Must Work for a living.

67 Are Dependent on some one else for support.

5 Only have an independent income.

If there were no other service offered by Life Insurance than that which makes it possible for the dreams of Financial Independence to come true, worthy would be its mission.

It Does More . . .

Life Insurance safeguards the family, the home, the individual against financial worries caused by two inevitable happenings—decreased earning power caused by old age and death of the breadwinner.
